	DISTINGUISHED FLYING CROSS
C001	Flying Officer NIGRL WILLIAM CRAFTNANT MOULD 125916 of the R.A.F. Vol. Res. No 57 Squadron "This officer's first operational flight was to Berlin. On that occasion his navigation was faultless and he has since continued to display the same skill and efficiency in his duties. On several occasions, long missions to Berlin, Stettin and North Africa have been successfully completed owing to his accurate and reliable work. Flying officer Mould has also been largely responsible for instructing and training young navigators and the high standard of navigation in the squadron can be largely attributed to his enthusiasm and work." This in the London Gazette dated 17 th August 1943. Medal dated 1943 and in box of issue with a typed copy of his award.	VF	30 000
	DUNBAR MEDAL 1650
C002	Second type silver medal 25 mm x 21 mm – The Scottish Presbyterian army of some 20 000 men commanded by David Leslie threatened to invade England. They had several scores to settle not least as Cromwell had executed their King Charles I in 1649. General Cromwell was appointed commander in chief after Fairfax resigned. Cromwell crossed the border into Scotland in June but sickness in the ranks forced him to withdraw to the Plain of Dunbar. Leslie expected him to totally withdraw and came out of his defensive position. Cromwell saw his chance and attacked. Cromwell was victorious and Cromwell resolved that – a number of gold and silver be distributed amongst the men.	VF	4000
